Job Opening: Professor

Title: One position for professor in the field of aesthetics and/or philosophy of information and art (Graduate School of Informatics, Nagoya University)

Institution: Nagoya University (URL: http://en.nagoya-u.ac.jp/)

Department:

Department of Social Informatics, Graduate School of Informatics (URL: https://www.i.nagoya-u.ac.jp/en/gs/si/)

Unit:

Philosophy of Information Unit

Institution type:

National university

Content of work:

1) To engage in research activities in the field of philosophy of information through investigating what is/ought to be aesthetic values in the information society of the future.
2) To engage in managements of Graduate School of Informatics to contribute our mission
3) To supervise and teach graduates and undergraduates in their research and study
4) To coordinate art-related courses of the general education program and make arrangements for art events and exhibitions at the on-campus gallery "CLAS"

Research field:

Field: Informatics

Specific classification: Aesthetics, Philosophy of Art, Philosophy of Information

Job type:

Professor

Rank:

Full-time (Tenured)

Address:

Department of Social Informatics
Graduate School of Informatics, Nagoya University
Furo-cho, Chikusa, Nagoya 464-8601, Japan

Qualifications:

An applicant is required to meet the following conditions:

1) have a Ph.D. degree in the field of philosophy or aesthetics

2) have enough communication ability in Japanese

3) have enough experience in collaboration with scientists from other fields

4) have some experience in making a social contribution through engagement in art events or exhibitions

Salary:

Monthly salary will be provided in accordance with Nagoya University regulation.

Deadline for applications: March 31, 2021

Starting date:

The earliest possible date after August 1, 2021

Application materials (in A4 or letter-size paper except for reprints. One set of printed materials and a USB stick storing one PDF file including all application materials):

1) Curriculum Vitae (Your e-mail address should be included)

2) A list of research achievements (including peer-reviewed journal papers, peer-reviewed conference papers, books, invited talks, doctoral dissertation, etc.)

3) Reprints (or copies) of five key articles of applicant's own research

4) An abstract of research activities to date (within 2 pages)

5) A brief description of your research plans in the future (1 page)

6) A short essay on your teaching activities to date and teaching plans/aspirations (1 page)

7) A detailed list of obtained research funds (grant name, project title, total budget, year(s), PI or CI)

8) A detailed list of social implementations of research and development results

9) Other supporting materials (teaching experiences, awards, patents, academic society and social activities, etc., if the applicant would like to present)

10) Full names and contact details (with e-mail address) of two references and their recommendation letters.

Application submission:

Send all application materials via registered post before the deadline date to:

Professor Kazuhisa Todayama

Department of Social Informatics
Graduate School of Informatics
Nagoya University
Furo-cho, Chikusa, Nagoya 464-8601, Japan

Write "Application to Philosophy of Information Unit" in red on the envelope.

Application materials will not be returned to the applicants.
Application materials will be used only for this selection and will not be used for other purposes.

Selection process:

Application materials review and peer interview

+ Nagoya University promotes gender equality in employment, and actively encourages female applicants.

Contact:

Professor Kazuhisa Todayama

Department of Social Informatics
Graduate School of Informatics
Nagoya University
E-mail: todayama@i.nagoya-u.ac.jp